

Ursula Perano ('18)

Soaring Eagle Award

Soaring Eagles are young professionals who have recently graduated from TCC and have made significant headway within their professional fields, exhibit leadership and drive, contribute to their community, and show promise of continued success.

Ursula Perano is a politics reporter for The Daily Beast in Washington D.C. She is focused on Congress and congressional campaigns and has traveled the country to report on high-profile political contests. On a day-to-day basis, she works out of the U.S. Capitol, speaking to members of the House and Senate about the latest news. Ursula has appeared on MSNBC, News Nation, SiriusXM, CBC Canada, and various local outlets to discuss her work and share her insights.

Ursula graduated from TCC in 2018 and finished her bachelor's degree at Florida State University in May 2019. She moved to D.C. a few weeks after graduating and began her career at Axios as a news apprentice. She later became a legislative reporter for POLITICO before obtaining her current role at The Daily Beast. Ursula grew up in Tampa, and she credits TCC with giving her a high-quality and accessible education while she put herself through school.
