

E.E. Eunice

E.E. Eunice, Executive Director Florida Public Safety Institute at Tallahassee Community College since 2000, boasts decades of service to the field of public safety.

Eunice holds numerous degrees, including two Associate's, a Bachelor's, and a Master of Science in Criminal Justice Administration. He has demonstrated dedication to community safety through his leadership roles in law enforcement--from serving as a police Chief in four different agencies to his 20-year position as Division Commander at the Florida Police Department.

As a certified law enforcement officer, Eunice has also held instructional roles, including adjunct professorship at institutions across the South, such as Florida State University and Tallahassee Community College, as well as the University of Texas and Brewton-Parker College.

Eunice's memberships with both the Florida Police Chiefs Association and the International Association of Chiefs of Police further demonstrates his commitment to excellence in the public safety field.

E.E. Eunice has a wife, Nadine, and two grown children.
